President's Note

Steve Permison, President

Last year at this time I said that "It's nice to be able to say that we had our best New Year ever, in terms of quality of services, place of worship and attendance. This year it's a pleasure to repeat this statement and apply it to the entire year. Again, our very talented clergy outdid themselves in providing exceptionally high quality, engrossing, educational and prayerful services. Again this year our special speaker series brought a little extra in terms of community interest and talent to our Sabbath Services. Again this year all of the Ingleside staff were exceptionally welcoming and made every effort to provide a comfortable locale for many of our Sabbath Services. Again this year we have increased our membership and broadened and increased services provided by our clergy. As you read through this newsletter articles from our clergy, Board Members and Committee Chairs will tell you about new

Rabbi's High Holy Day Message

Arnold Saltzman, Rabbi

Hevrat Shalom Congregation, Maryland

With the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, we celebrate one of the great sources of joy and spiritual nourishment of the Jewish People. We proclaim a New Year announcing that today is the birthday of the world and that we acknowledge God as Ruler as we remember that we are connected to all that has gone before us. Due to the merit of our ancestors, God has given us a great heritage and tradition.

We gather to pray that our year, 5772, be a year of great promise and free from the difficulties which we see every day in our world. We gather to express solidarity with our brothers and sisters in Israel as they experience isolation and an unprecedented wave of irrational anti-Israeli and anti-Semitic prejudice from around the world.

We gather as Jews and with all those who join us, and are related to us, to express our determination to work for a better world. We recognize the suffering throughout our country during these difficult economic times, and pray for sustenance for those who are struggling. We know that many in our community suffer from personal loss and illness, and we pray that they have strength as they make our community a better place. We sound the Shofar and ask God to accept in mercy and with favor the words of our prayer (Areshet S'fateinu).

What if To hear the Shofar is to be inspired, to listen to its sound is to sense the spiritual connection to the generations from the beginning of time, our origin as men and women who wish to celebrate life and who wish to examine its meaning.

This you have difficulty in praying? What if the words of the prayers fall flat and don't resonate with your belief? We welcome those who believe and those who do not, as it is written in our Kol Nidre prayer. We do this to emphasize the importance of community, for through participation in community we can solve the problems we face, we can provide for the needy, we can provide for the needs of the Kahal, the congregation. We can lift up our spirit that we are not alone in our struggle. We are grateful for the goodness that is life.

year remember us to life, Zochreinu L'Chaim, and inscribe us in the book of life, for You gave us life, and we are forever grateful.

Together with Carol, Joshua and Hagar, and Michael, and on behalf of Hevrat Shalom Congregation we wish all of you a Shana Tova U'metukah, A sweet, happy and prosperous New Year!

services planned. We also plan to reach out to new locales in both the Kentlands and King Farm. Synagogue programming for 5772 includes these and other new programs as well as the continuation of our current programs. It takes a lot of energy and creative talent to make and maintain this momentum. Hevrat Shalom depends for its sustenance on its members and friends to volunteer their services in large and small ways throughout the year.

This year, please include us in your planning and resolutions. If you are able, please pledge just a little more of your time and resources, just a little more of your participation and support so Hevrat Shalom Congregation may continue to provide just a little more service back to you. It is our goal, from year to year, and ultimately from generation to generation, to always remember the "Best year yet" as we look forward as a Jewish community to the Jewish New Year and together take a moment from our secular lives to wish each other happy, healthy, fulfilling and prayerful Jewish New Years. May we all be inscribed in the Book of Life for 5772.

L'Chaim!

Tradition! Don't let it be only a song from Fiddler on the Roof

Caron Dale
Senior Cantorial Soloist

I remember Shabbat evenings singing z'mirot (hymns) with Grandpa after dinner, which included a delicious, traditional bowl of homemade chicken soup. And then there were the tea parties my British grandmother and I held when I was a pre-teen. We two 'women' shared our thoughts and talked about what was happening in our lives ... especially mine! Back in the day, Uncle Jerry was the one in charge of reading the telegrams at family events. And then there was Suffice it to say that the traditions my parents and grandparents shared will be with me 'til my very last day.

I in turn share many of them with my children. My husband Steve and I have also created many wonderful traditions that we hope our boys will cherish and pass along when the time comes.

Generations ago people did much of their socializing within their families and small communities. Today families often don't live near one another making it difficult and more important than ever to make the effort to build and maintain strong bonds. Handing down traditions can be a fun and rewarding way to pass along your heritage while making memories that will last beyond your lifetime.

Whether it's golf in the rough or baking in the kitchen, family vacations with those memorable guffaws, silly songs made up at holiday celebrations or volunteering as a family, I've learned that it's the things you do during those times that are the dearest. It's the laughter and the joy, the in-depth talks, the blessings you make, the rituals you choose, and their repetition that makes the traditions your own.

Jewish oral tradition dates back to the days of Moses at Mount Sinai. This time of the year presents a wonderful opportunity to share our traditions with our children and grandchildren. Be sure to engage and include them so they can own the event. It can be something really simple for the little ones or a bit more complex for the older one. Take time to explain what it is you value and what you want to be sure is continued. Doing so will not only make the tradition have meaning and memory for them, but will provide a living example of how to pass them on to their children as well. If you can, record them through scrapbooks, photos, videos, writings, ... With today's technology, ask the kids to help in this process, thereby creating another tradition.

David Brooks recently wrote a wonderful OpEd column in the New York Times called the Haimish Line. It's well worth your time: http://www.nytimes.com/2011/08/30/opinion/brooks-the-haimish-line.html?_r=1&partner=rssnyt&emc=rss

So go forth and make memories every day. Take this opportunity to reconnect or enhance your relationships in a meaningful way. Contribute to the sense of pride children have in their families and in Judaism.

Shana tova um'tukah, ומתוקה טובה שנה. Warmest wishes for a sweet and memorable new year to you and all whom you hold dear.

Torah Mantle in memory of Rabbi Reuben Levine to be dedicated at Friday Evening Service, September 16, 2011

Rabbi Arnold Saltzman

Rabbi Reuben Levine, the founding Rabbi of Hevrat Shalom Congregation will be remembered at the September 16th Friday evening service with the dedication of a Torah mantle in his honor and memory. Rabbi Levine was a beloved rabbi who served Hevrat Shalom with distinction, overseeing its birth and growth, to include a diverse membership of professionals and families, and brought together people for study, worship, and fellowship.

Rabbi Levine was a wonderful rabbi and colleague, and I know that many members of the congregation miss his wisdom and gentle manner. He was a master teacher, visual artist, and had a special talent in teaching children. His son, Dr. Daniel Levine, distinguished Psychiatrist in Maryland who is also a talented musician, will be joining us for the dedication. Dr. Levine indicated that if Shirley, Reuben's wife, is able to travel she will join us as well. Both Rabbi Levine and Shirley have left a lasting influence on our congregation.

We invite you to join us for the dedication of a beautiful new Torah mantle in memory of a Righteous Person, Rabbi, and Leader: Rabbi Reuben Levine.

The 10th Anniversary of 9/11

Rabbi Arnold Saltzman

On this day when we commemorate the loss of lives in the 9/11 attack on the United States, we pray that those who have suffered terrible loss know that we have not forgotten them. We pray that those who were first responders, firefighters, police, medics, doctors, religious leaders, therapists who cared for the injured, prayed for those who died, prayed for those lived, we pray that they have experienced some healing in

Their lives. We pray that our country has experienced healing as well. We pray for those who have lost loved ones in the subsequent wars which followed these attacks on the United States. We owe our profound gratitude to those who defend this country, we bless them and pray for their safe return.

The locations of the attacks in New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia contain the tears of a nation. May the anniversary of this day help us to better understand the nature of those who would harm us without cause so that we will not be lulled into complacency, even as we seek to understand how to hold fast to the many reasons we have for rejoicing in being Americans.

5772 Jewish Film Festival Irv Schaeffer, Acting Social Chair

Hevrat Shalom Congregation possibly with another Congregation is planning to host a Jewish Film Festival with multiple films planned during the year beginning this fall. The films will be selected and approved by our Board of Directors and shown Ingleside. Several award winning films from Israel and the United States are currently under consideration.

Rabbi Saltzman is looking for speakers involved in the making of these films to further enhance the events appeal. The Festival will be open to our immediate membership and their families and friends.

We would very much like to hear from you regarding the choice of films and suggestions that might enhance our plans. Please share your thoughts with me by email at irwinschaeffer@comcast.net or by phone on 301-438-7316.

Note from our Financial Vice President and Treasurer Jon Pfeffer

We are celebrating an exciting new year as the High Holidays greet us. Hevrat Shalom is entering this year with a fresh look and appeal. Last year was filled with many wonderful services and special events. The congregation saw considerable growth and more integration with Ingleside, King Farm and other local communities. Some of our newest members even come from Washington, DC.

The New Year will have exciting and different activities. I am looking forward to the addition of the Torah Study Group and the Jewish Film Festival. We will also be participating in local community activities such as the King Farm Fall Festival on October 2. The reconfigured Religious School should prove to be a great success.

This is also the time of year that we think about Tzedakah. Hey, I'm the Treasurer, so talking about money is my job. The Hebrew word "Tzedakah" is often translated as "Charity". Charity implies that you want to go beyond the call of duty. "Tzedakah", however, literally means righteousness or doing the right thing. A "tzaddik" is a righteous person, someone who fulfills all of his or her obligations, whether they feel like it or not.

As your treasurer and member of the Board, I am asking you to consider recognizing a mitzvah, graduation, anniversary or a remembrance with a donation to your congregation. You need only to go to our web site and click the donation tab (<http://hevratshalom.org/Hevrat-Shalom-Congregation-Donations.php>). This will allow you to pay by using "Pay Pal." You may also send a check directly to our PO Box. I want to wish all of you a sweet, happy and very healthy year.

Please share the word about our High Holy Day Services by printing and posting a copy of our High Holy Day Poster found on the last page of this newsletter in your neighborhood supermarket, coffee shop or restaurant.

Funeral Practices Committee

Jack Goldman, Chair

Hevrat Shalom Congregation has reserved a number of cemetery plots at the Garden of Remembrance Cemetery in Comus, Maryland, located just off Route 355 on Comus Road, north of Clarksburg. The cemetery also has plots for interfaith couples. If you would like to purchase a cemetery plot at Garden of Remembrance, please contact Joan Pinsky at (410) 349-4887 (home) or (301) 279-7889 (cell) and mention that you are a member of Hevrat Shalom.

In addition, the congregation is a member of the Funeral Practices Committee of Greater Washington, which entitles our members to obtain a package of Basic Funeral Services from the Hines-Rinaldi funeral home at a reasonable cost; members, of course, can make their own arrangements with any other funeral home in the area (please see our website for a list of funeral homes).

If you do suffer a loss, please know that you can contact the Rabbi Saltzman at any time at (202) 244-6871 (voicemail) or (202) 669-4434 (cell). In his absence, Jack Goldman, chairman of the Funeral Practices Committee, is also available, at (202) 744-0179.

For more information, please go to our website at (i) www.hevratshalom.org, then go to "Activities" and then "Funeral Practices" or (ii) directly to:

Our Clergy

Rabbi Arnold Saltzman, Principal Rabbi

Rabbi Saltzman is one of the best known religious leaders in the greater Washington region. He is Cantor Emeritus of the Adas Israel Congregation of Washington, DC where he served for twenty-seven years. Well known as a singer, composer, youth choir director, and educator, Rabbi Saltzman has lectured at the Smithsonian, 6th and I Historic Synagogue, the Kennedy Center, and the National Cathedral. Rabbi Saltzman was ordained after four years of study at the Academy for Jewish Religion and Rabbinical Seminary International by Rabbi Joseph Gelberman. He holds a Master of Arts in Music from Teachers College, Columbia University, a Bachelor of Arts from Brooklyn College of the City University of New York, and he was ordained a Cantor in 1980 by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. Rabbi Saltzman is a member of both the Cantors Assembly and the American Conference of Cantors, and the International Federation of Rabbis.

"My goal is to create a caring, spiritual community without walls, welcoming those who wish to participate in our tradition while teaching the modern practice of our religious heritage."

Rabbi David Kuperman, Associate Rabbi

His celebration of life is innovative and traditional, joyful and warm, egalitarian and participatory. He supports communities in working toward the redemption of the world through the pursuit of justice and the practice of compassion. Rabbi Kuperman received his ordination from Rabbi Joseph Gelberman, a doctorate from Indiana University, and a master's in rabbinics from Baltimore Hebrew University.

Caron Dale, Senior Cantorial Soloist

Caron Dale is the talented director and founder of 'Lox and Vodka,' a well known Klezmer band which entertains at many celebrations and community events. Caron is a recording artist and has led family services at Adas Israel Congregation, and the Gan Hayed in Washington, DC. I have known her for many years as a teacher to her children, as a colleague, and I am delighted that she is cantorial soloist for our congregation. She brings a joyful presence, a deep sense of Jewish tradition, a wealth of experience to our services, and we look forward to seeing her more often this year.

Beth Rubens, Cantorial Soloist

Beth Rubens is a graduate of Vassar College and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, who with the encouragement of one of our prior cantors decided to make a transition to cantorial soloist. For two years, Beth has been working on developing her cantorial skills. Initially last summer Beth met with Cantor Laura Croen, and several cantors in California. Beth is continuing her cantorial studies through ongoing meetings with Rabbi Saltzman, who is both our Principal Rabbi and Cantor Emeritus of the Adas Israel congregation of Washington D.C. Beth offers another spiritual side to our services through the presentation of beautiful music and her experience as a professional singer. We look forward to Beth's continued participation in all of our services.
